

The 9th Annual BOCO Traditional Music Festival Performers

These bands will perform in the Turnage Theatre Gallery on April 29, 2017

10:00-10:45- The Flatland Zingers

The Flatland Zingers are traditional musicians that enjoy entertaining folks by performing lively acoustic string-band music and having FUN! Based in Washington, NC, the Zingers met through their involvement in the BCTMA (Beaufort County Traditional Music Association), and began playing as a group in 2013. The Flatland Zingers' appearance is old-timey rural, their sound is Appalachian earthy, and their performances are good-time fun. Band members include Linda Boyer, Rob Cuthrell, and special guests.

11:00-11:45-Dave Reynolds

Dave is a newcomer to the area but brings his wonderful guitar skills to the stage for your enjoyment. Dave plays an assortment of blues, bluegrass and original songs. See The Dave Reynolds Project.

12:00-12:45- Tanglewood

Ann Meadows is an indie singer, songwriter, guitarist, and percussionist whose musical range encompasses blues, folk, r & b, blues, pop, and country. Whether alone with 12 string guitar or on stage as part of Tanglewood, Ann gives a part of herself and her songs will stay with you, in your mind and in your heart.

Bon Lozaga aka "Bonez Malone" is the founder of Cuz'n Kirk's Blues Band. Bon has a great love for the blues and R&B. Bon has accompanied Ann on several occasions and always offers primo brand of hot blues, funky grooves, with a touch of soul that is irresistible.

1:00-1:45- Lane, Dustin, and Sarah Hollis and John Booker

John and Lane have played together for many years, and have developed a unique bluegrass style with tight vocals and fun “give and take” instrumentals. John plays the stand-up bass and Lane plays banjo. They are encouraging a new generation of musicians. Performing with them are Lane’s daughter Sarah on the fiddle, and his nephew Dustin flat picking the guitar.

2:00-2:45- Lonesome Creek Band

This Beaufort County band loves to play classic blue grass and vintage rock and roll. Lonesome Creek Band volunteers two nights a month at the local nursing homes to provide entertainment to the residents. The band also plays at Riverside Campground and festivals and events as requested. The band is composed of Wendy Wallace, Sidney and Delores Moore.

3:00-3:45-Bob Daw

Bob goes by the logo “One Man, One Guitar” and has been playing music his whole life. At any time Bob can entertain an audience with over two hundred stage-ready songs. Bob especially enjoys singing and playing old pop, traditional country songs, and some of his original tunes, too. He lives at Blounts Creek.

4:00-4:45- Now and Then

Terry & Debbie Davis are a husband & wife duo. They label themselves as Americana, since they do a mixture of genres in their own style. They both have played blue grass for years, so there is a reflection of those roots in many of their songs.

Some of their usual venues include; Blackbeards Restaurant/Sneads Ferry NC, Trent River Coffee Co, Irish Pirate/Emerald Isle NC, Floyds 1921 Restaurant/Morehead City NC, The Boathouse/Beaufort NC and BCTMA performances

5:00-5:45- Still Water Band

They all sing and pick their favorite songs, which gives them a pretty good variety of blue grass and old traditional county songs. They are composed of Wendy Wallace on bass, Donnie Moore on banjo, Jay Moore on mandolin, Bobby Moore on guitar.

6:00-6:45 Youth Performers

Marye Amanda McDaniel, Sydney Moore, Will Stovall

7:00-9:00- Bad Ridge Bluegrass Band-
Free performance on the Turnage Stage

There's no doubt that Bad Ridge will get the crowd going when they hit the stage at the Turnage Theatre. This hard driving bluegrass band hails from Oakwood, VA and is composed of Mike Mullens, banjo, Matt Stacy, mandolin, Jamie Stacy, bass, and Josh Raines, guitar.
